Detailed Action

1.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Eifrig.

With respect to claim 1, Eifrig teaches an image predictive decoding method for decoding an input bit-stream including variable length coded transformed coefficients ( col. 6, lines 50-55 and col. 6, lines 20-25), the method comprising: decoding the VLC transformed coefficients into a 1-dimensional array (inherent) see col. 6, line 22;

adaptively selecting a prediction block for a current block from either an above block or a left block immediately adjacent to the current block (col. 9, lines 5-10); predicting a quantized DC coefficient from DC coefficients from the above and left block, see col. 9, lines 32-37 and further predicting the AC coefficients from the selected DC block that was either left or above selected and using the above block to select a row of coefficients for predicting the coefficients for the current block, see col. 9, lines 53-60.

With respect to claim 2, Eifrig teaches an image predictive coding apparatus (shown by figures 1 and 6) for decoding an input bit-stream including VLC decoder (642) for defining one dimensional coefficients, see also col. 6, line 22.

Eifrig teaches a block selection unit (649), see also figure 6, for adaptively selecting a prediction block for a current block from either an above block or a left block adjacent to the current block (see figure 4a-4c), see also col. 9, lines 5-10; DC prediction unit 646 operable to predict a quantized DC coefficient of the current block from a quantized DC coefficient of the prediction block adaptively selected from either the above block or the left block (see col. 9, lines 32-39); and an AC prediction unit 648 operable to predict AC coefficients from the AC coefficients of either the left or above block.
